Dear Sister Atwater:

Your recent letter has been received at the office of the First Presidency in which you make inquiry regarding a certain deviated sex practice which you say is being used by some of your married friends. You inquire if there is a standard of moral conduct between a man and his wife.

The brethren wish me to tell you that there are some questions that even today should be felt to involve such delicacy and modesty as not to be the subject of common discussion. The brethren feel that the question which you raise is such as should be answered by you and your husband and in accordance with your own convictions. The Church has never believed it necessary to issue instructions pertaining to intimate relations between husband and wife.

Sincerely yours,

Joseph Anderson

Secretary to the First Presidency
